ICC's workforce presented with commemorative medallion

Following a series of events in Japan to mark the delivery of the one millionth tonne of Illawarra Coke Company (ICC) coke to Mitsui Mining & Smelting Company, it was the turn of the workforces at Corrimal and Coalcliff Cokeworks to join in the celebrations.

Rex Wright, ICC Managing Director, said the ICC cokeworkers are a vital ingredient in the successful delivery of high quality coke to all its customers - including Mitsui Mining & Smelting Company.

"As a mark of our appreciation for their role in producing the consistently high quality coke, which has helped ICC to maintain the relationship with the largest zinc producer in Japan for twenty-four years, we struck a medallion to commemorate the event.

"It gave me great pleasure to personally present each ICC employee with a medallion and a brochure explaining the event and the significance to ICC.

"To some, one million tonnes of coke over a twenty-four year period might not seem much, but for a company the size of ICC it is not only a landmark delivery but recognition of a long-serving customer relationship, which is unusual these days, particularly with such a large company.

"ICC exports 75% of its total coke production, so the quality and reliability of its coke product is paramount in successfully competing on the world coke market."

Trees pruned at Corrimal Cokeworks front entrance

The Illawarra Coke Company applied to Wollongong City Council for permission to prune several trees at the entrance to its Corrimal Cokeworks site.

The trees - growing on cokeworks land - had branches reaching half way across the road and were becoming a hazard to tall vehicles driving west up Railway Street.

The application to prune was approved and the work has now been carried out by a qualified arborist.
